

Germaine on the Big Screen

IN THIS ISSUE:

Congrats to acting graduate Germaine Brooks for booking a role in the feature film Lila & Eve starring Viola Davis and Jennifer Lopez.

Germaine described his role as pretty challenging. He says “When you’re opposite such great talent, there’s inherent pressure. I was able to learn from them and play off them. It helped make my performance better.”

Germaine recently went on a press run promoting the new film Lila and Eve that included appearances on Good Day Orlando, Monsters in the Morning, 740 AM The Game, and in The Orlando Sentinel, Orlando Times and The Villages Daily Sun among others. He says, “I really want to touch people through film and beyond just an individual thing I want to inspire and ignite the fire in Florida filmmaking”.

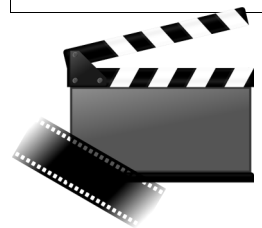

He has a short film in production and also a series pilot currently being filmed in the pipeline. Beyond that he will be co-starring in a project that he wrote titled “Somebody Talk To Em” which is in production as well.

Germaine started acting at the age of 9 doing commercials and various Nickelodeon projects. He graduated from Lyman High School.

He is excited to see what his next role will be and with his extraordinary drive to succeed, we wouldn't doubt him one minute.

MAILE SCHOOL STAR TALENT

The Maile School is happy to announce acting graduate China Taylor has booked Janet Jackson's Unbreakable Tour. Although, this is not her first big tour as she has performed on stage with top artists such as Lady Gaga, Brittany Spears, and Trey Songz to name a few. China has appeared in a few of Zendaya's videos and she has also danced on several episodes of the popular show Glee as well as Madmen. Mom Tijon says, "Thanks to The Maile School and staff for teaching my daughter how important presentation and delivery really is." Be sure to check out China live at The Amway Center when Janet comes to town this September. Wow, how exciting that China get to work with Miss Janet Jackson!

Congrats to kids acting graduate Corinna Giordano. Corinna has been working in the industry and just finished a 2-day shoot with Harcourt Mifflin, the book publishing company and shot print for their text books. She also just finished an industrial video shoot for Journeys online to be used in California. Corinna was in a commercial for Lammily Doll where she had speaking lines and talked about the doll during the intro of the commercial which aired on Nick Toons and other children's channels. Lastly, she booked and appears on posters, website and email campaigns for the popular clothing store called The Children's Place. Corinna's mom, Sook says, "Thanks Maile School for your AWESOME training." (Below are pictures of her work). Way to go Corinna!

Professional Modeling graduate Kathryn Barnes is 84 years old and has been in the industry over 25 years. We are proud to say she is still working as a senior model and shows no signs of stopping. Check her out in this ad pictured right for Acorn Stairlifts. She has done many print shoots, TV commercials and live modeling and appears a lot on the Home Shopping Network. When she is not modeling Kathryn works at Lakewood Ranch Country Club, and has been there part time for 11 years. Kathryn says, "I am so grateful and I am not finished there is more to come." We are so happy for all your success Kathryn!

Congrats to Maile School acting graduate and acting instructor Shellita Boxie. She landed work on the HBO show titled Ballers starring Dwayne "The Rock" Johnson. Some of Shellita's impressive industry credits include work for Selma, The Walking Dead, and Tyler Perry's Why Did I Get Married to name a few.

The Maile School is happy to be partners with Kauses4Kids. Kauses4Kids, Inc. was founded by Maile School graduate Rodney M. Hughley on the idea of helping children in need. Ever since the organization was established, they have endeavored to provide help where the need is greatest. Comprised of a team of child advocates made up entirely of volunteers, their aim to not only assist children with crisis level needs in order that they may maximize their individual potential, but also acknowledge the value in equally providing service opportunities for youngsters who also express an interest in service engagement, while exhibiting leadership potential. Rodney is caring, compassionate, enthusiastic, and is a child advocate who has worked tirelessly to champion Kauses4kids. Rodney says, "For a child with ANY need, even a little help goes a long way. You can check out this great organization at

presented by The Maile School

The Full Workout...

The Gym and The Lab

The Actor’s Workout is divided into two, one hour sessions, limited to 14 students per class. The Gym is an exploration into the human body as the actor’s instrument. Here, we explore voice and movement with an emphasis on the techniques, theories, and exercises of Michael Chekhov.

The second hour of The Actor’s Workout is The Lab, a place where we apply acting technique to the written word. Within the hour we’ll breakdown scenes and find tune the craft for performance. The Lab emphasizes much of the work of Sanford Meisner, beginning with his famous Meisner Repetition Technique.

1 credit/hr = $15 and are cheaper when purchased in bulk.
